25th JULY CLUB NIGHT

Where is the club going at Christmas? What are the Christmas trips all about?
Where did the club go last Christmas, and what did they get up to?

It has often been the tendency to leave these questions unanswered until late in the year. However, to have a successful Christmas trip such things as boat bookings have to be made early. Come along, and see what it is all about (slides), and perhaps decide to come along this Christmas yourself.

Supper Duties: Kevin Pearce (tea towels)

TRIP REPORTS

REPORT ON THE USE OF HOWLETTS HUT BETWEEN MAY 1969 IN JUNE 1974

Location: S.W. Ruahines, on the tops.

The total number of trips passing through, or staying in Howletts Hut for the sixty one month period was one hundred, and thirty one giving a monthly average of approximately 2 (2.1491). This figure gives little indication as to the normal distribution of the trips. If we take a comparison of the "winter" months (May, June, July, August) with the remainder of the year a more accurate picture of hut occupation can be obtained. Of the total figure of 131 trips only 24 visited the hut during the 22 winter months covered by the report giving an average monthly occupation of just over 1 compared with an average monthly occupation during the summer months of almost 3. From this it can be easily seen that the hut, and I suspect the area in general is visited far less often during the cold months. This is hardly surprising it being obviously colder, the days shorter, and the deer less numerous on the open tops hence it is not at all desirable to the "average" deerstalker, and non-tramping club member. If we were now to look at the type of group visiting the hut we could add further weight to our observation.

Of the 131 trips to the hut 43 were made by tramping, and mountaineering clubs such as our own 26 were made by the N.Z.F.S. employees, and other government bodies such as hydrological survey teams, and 62 trips were made by deerstalkers, and non-tramping club members though I suspect that some of the groups in this last category were in fact tramping club groups although this was not stated in the log book. The type of group seems to be closely correlated to the month of the year. Of the 24 trips made to the hut in "winter" months 18 (75%) were made by tramping club parties (5 by our own club) 5 (21%) were made by deerstalkers, and non-tramping club members, and only 1 (4%) was made by a N.Z.F.S. party. It is quite understandable why this is so, tramping club parties visit the hut in search of good winter snow conditions for such trips as Sawtooth Ridge (many like our club fail to find them) while the main attraction for most other visitors to the hut the deer have moved down into the bush.

This reflection of the seasons in the type of group visiting the area can be seen when we look at other periods such as the "roar" when the number of trips by N.Z.F.S., and deerstalkers reaches a peak where as there is a decline in the number of tramping club parties and the area. After all who wants to be shot by some possessed deerstalker?

If you are further interested in the results of the survey, and would like to know the answers to such questions as "Who owns Howletts Hut?" and "Which club has made the most visits to the hut in the last 3 or 4 years?" write to:

15-16th JUNE HIKURANGI RANGE

Three enthusiasts braved the mighty Kawhatau River by winching themselves across the "cable cage" near Kawhatau Base, and proceeded to increase their elevation by 2,800 feet and about 4,000 yards. Unpleasant conditions on Hill, at grid reference 549046 forced the party to drop down to Hikurangi Hut for the afternoon (and evening). Next morning the surrounding countryside was found to be covered in a few inches of dry powder snow, which was still arriving by airmail. A brief sortie down the ridge towards the river was abandoned when the first views of a roaring torrent presented themselves. The climb back onto the top of the range was hampered by a very strong wind, but the trio enjoyed the novelty of tramping through dry snow. Snow was lying at 2,400 feet at the "Base" when the party departed, and the snow was falling at Kimbolton on the way home.

Leader : Tim Short

Team : Vivianne Morson, and Trevor Bissell

6-7th July NGAPUKETERUA -- HARRIS CREEK -- MANGAHAO -- SHORMANS CROSSING

The Number ONE party blazed their trail up onto Ngapuketerua from the back of the Top Dam facing up to waist deep snow, and even deeper Leatherwood. In true FE tradition members sometimes threw themselves face down in the snow to flatten a clear path for their comrades, however progress in such conditions was slow, and so the five heroes of Number ONE party turned from the tops at the base of Kareti, and went to lunch at Putara Hut.

Late in the day the Number TWO party struggled in dragging a half dead leader who rallied just enough strength to carry his own pack into the hut. Their sad tale of privations, and struggle (in the path trodden earlier in the day by Number ONE) may never be told.

Next morning, after seeing the Number TWO'S limp off down towards the Mangatainoka Valley Valley, the Number ONE'S took to the tops and another day of snow, Leatherwood, more Leatherwood, bush, and river.

Number ONE Leader : Trevor Stretton

Number ONE Team : Mary-Anne Whitehead, Kevin Pearce, Ian Hoare, and Trevor Bissell

Number TWO Leader : Tim Short

Number TWO Team : Vivienne Morson, Anne Hayman, and Mark Hindmarsh.
