PAST REPORT

ALL THE PEAKS OVER 1530 METRES

In the beginning, this being the best place to start, there were three fellows, you see. It had already been decided by some high authority that they must suffer from the very point, the answer was on Friday night start with enough water to rundown their necks and short strong gusts of wind to blow their lamps.

Not to be turned back by those harsh surrounding things did the boring Barra Track reached the Mitre Flats, though wet, with great expectations of what the morning would bring, this not being too far away.

Morning has broken ... and it did our poor friends were off again this time up the Barton track to Baldy, with a detour to McGregor and frontal attack on the Three Kings (for those among us ignorakt? Of their Kings names I will disclose their names) the most southerly is South King next Middle King and then North King.

Upon reaching Girdlestone and Brockett it became obvious there was going to be too much weather for them to do an extensive detour to Bannister so they settled for having six peaks under their belts than exposure on Table Ridge so over The Mitre they go and down, down ... to another night at Mitre Flats and a scrap with its most recent residents, which was promptly turned out.

With morning the final peak seemed even further away so it was decided to shift base camp to Kiriwhakapapa and make an attempt from there as well as making a saving in petroleum. So it came to be that our men meet up with a curtain of mist, but yet that peak still alluded them.

P.S. And it came to pass that two of the above returned to Kiriwhakapapa and made yet another attempt on the elusive peak, but something that often happens on a day trip of only twelve hours, they ran out of time.

So keep it up boys and I'll see you next week.

Taking part; Trevor Bissell, Roy Wilson, Peter Darragh.
